1. INTRODUCTION AND BACKGROUND

In 2001, the USEPA prepared a volumetric ranking of companies that sent materials to the Clayton/RRG Site from 1995 through 1998, based on Illinois EPA (IEPA) Hazardous Waste Reports for the years 1995 through 1998. Approximately twenty-seven (27) of the 839 companies shown on the 2001 USEPA volumetric ranking list formed a group (the “Group”) to remove liquid hazardous substances from the Clayton/RRG Site. On 9/26/02, the Group’s Participation Agreement was signed, and on 9/30/02, the USEPA Administrative Order by Consent (AOC) was signed. Pursuant to the AOC, the Performing Members, on behalf of the Group, undertook the obligation, among other obligations, to “[...] reasonably accessible manifests and waste shipment summaries from Illinois EPA and reasonably accessible on-site owner/operator records of their customers’ shipments to the [CCC/RRG] Site” in order to identify additional potentially responsible parties. Several law firms participated in the Performing Members’ efforts to identify potentially responsible parties. This report contains the result of an extensive review of available information and data pertaining to the Clayton/RRG Site.

This report is divided into seven sections (including this Introduction). Section 2 lists the current and past owners of the property. The information in Section 2 was derived from a chain of title report obtained for the property by Chicago Title Insurance Company at the direction of the Performing Members. Addresses listed in Section 2 were obtained from publicly available information and/or from responses to 104(e) information requests. Limited information regarding successor entities was also provided in one instance from publicly available information.

Section 3 of the report lists certain individuals and entities who are believed to have been former operators at the Clayton/RRG Site, based upon the responses received to date to Section 104(e) information requests; the deposition of Ronald Entrup, taken in Union Electric Company v. Sauget & Company, et al., No. 01-CV-668-WDS, U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Illinois, on May 7, 2003; and the deposition of Mr. Bud Haney, taken in Union Electric Company v. Sauget & Company, et al., on May 25, 2004. Mr. Entrup worked at the Clayton site from January 1971 until February 1983 (May 7, 2003, Entrup Depo. p.12). He was in charge of operations and managed what went on in the plant, including what came in and what went out (May 7, 2003, Entrup Depo. p. 18). Mr. Haney apparently worked at the Clayton/RRG Site from the late 1960’s to the late 1980’s. He was manager of the facility, a vice president, and a stockholder. We note, with reference to Section 3, that a number of Section 104(e) requests to potential operators, or follow-up inquiries to clarify initial responses, remain to be sent or received by USEPA. Addresses of those listed in Section 3 were obtained from publicly available information and/or from responses to 104(e) information requests.

Section 4 of this report is based on the aforementioned depositions of Mr. Entrup and Mr. Haney. The “generators” referenced in Section 4 all reportedly sent materials to the site prior to the implementation of recordkeeping requirements. Therefore, volumetric waste estimates were not available for these generators. Information concerning the dates these generators reportedly sent waste materials to the site and the types of materials sent to the site (if referenced in the depositions) are set forth in Section 4. Estimated waste shipment dates are preceded by a tilde (~). Generation of materials may have occurred for the entire date range or for only a portion. Some of the generation activity referred to in Section 4 could have taken place during a time period that overlaps the early years of the waste shipment date ranges covered in Section 5 and 6 referred to below (1980-1998) because the Section 4 information is based largely upon information from Ronald Entrup, who, as stated above, worked at the facility from 1971 until early 1983.

The information contained in Sections 2 through 4 is particularly important with respect to a potential response action addressing soils at the facility. Mr. David Weities was the environmental manager for Clayton Chemical from August 1980 until November 1988, according to an interview conducted by a representative of the Performing Members. At the meeting called by USEPA and held in East St. Louis, Illinois on March 28, 2002, Mr. Weities indicated publicly his belief that the vast majority of the soil contamination at the facility predates his tenure (i.e., predates 1980). Sections 5 and 6 contain a compilation of generators who sent materials to the site during the 1979-1998 time periods.

Because governmental recordkeeping requirements existed during this time period, a much larger volume of information is available for this period than for the prior time period. This does not mean, however, that the generators sending materials to the site during the 1979-1998 time period contributed to, or contributed more significantly to, soil contamination at the site. In fact, statements by David Weities and Ronald Entrup would suggest otherwise, as would the fact that, during the time period covered by Sections 5 and 6, regulations existed regarding the treatment, storage and disposal of hazardous waste, whereas no such regulations existed for prior time periods.¹

Sections 5 and 6 contain a volumetric ranking of generators who sent materials to the site between 1979 and 1998. Section 5 contains an overall volumetric listing. Section 6 breaks down the volumes reported in Section 5 by year and may include separate listings for related entities.

Section 7 contains a list of individuals and entities who transported materials to the Clayton/RRG Site. The “transporters” listed in Section 7 may be potentially responsible parties (“PRPs”) themselves and/or a source of additional information about PRPs, since Clayton did business with some generators indirectly through transporters (e.g., May 7, 2003 Entrup Depo., pp. 273, 315, 369-370).

As more fully described below, the primary source of information for Sections 5, 6 and 7 was IEPA’s database, Clayton’s annual reports and USEPA’s 2001 list. However, existing and available responses to USEPA 104(e) information requests were also utilized where helpful.

1.1 IDENTIFICATION AND GATHERING OF DOCUMENTS

¹ Indeed, Mr. Entrup testified that when he first began working at Clayton Chemical very little drained solvent was being captured. It was just let go whenever the system was drained. Materials would just drain to the ground from any of the various drain spots. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 482-83.)

After the execution of the AOC, the Performing Members began the process of identifying and gathering the documents from the Clayton/RRG Site. On November 5, 2002, Sheldon Korlin, Esq. (of Sheldon D. Korlin, P.C., representing RRG); an attorney, paralegal and litigation clerk (representing the Performing Members); and a representative from Reality Systems, a document conversion, copying and imaging vendor; met at the Clayton/RRG Site to determine the quality, quantity and location of the documents to be gathered. Documents were haphazardly scattered on the floor and in a loft in an unheated warehouse on the property. There were also documents in the main office building in file cabinets, book cases and desks (presumably just as they were when Resource Recovery Group closed up its business in 1998 or as USEPA left them after its review).

In early December 2002, the Performing Members submitted to Mr. Korlin an access agreement to allow representatives of the Performing Members to enter the Clayton/RRG Site. The access agreement was signed by Mr. Korlin on February 5, 2003. On February 13, 2003, Mr. Korlin opened the gate to the facility and allowed entry of Performing Member representatives to begin the document gathering process. Two paralegals and two clerks began re-boxing the Clayton/RRG documents in the warehouse and in the main office building. Most of the boxes of documents in the warehouse were in very poor condition, especially those left on the floor which had extensive water damage. In general, all of the cartons of documents in the warehouse were extremely dirty, contained rat droppings and were in boxes that were falling apart. The team spent February 13th and part of February 14th in the warehouse. One attorney provided oversight of the project. On February 17th, 2003, one paralegal and two clerks finished re-boxing the documents in the main office building. During the re-boxing of documents, a rough, handwritten general (non-comprehensive) inventory of the documents was created.

On or about March 3, 2003, approximately 341 boxes of Clayton/RRG documents were picked up and transferred to the St. Louis offices of Thompson Coburn LLP, where they are currently stored.

To aid in the effort, the Performing Members considered having all of the gathered Clayton/RRG documents scanned and copied for presentation to USEPA. However, due to the condition and considerable volume of documents, and expense involved in that process, the Performing Members considered alternative methods. Insofar as the manifests and annual reports contained the most responsive information, and a review of the handwritten index indicated that not all of the annual reports and manifests were listed on that index, the Performing Members decided to contact the IEPA to see whether IEPA's data could be made available electronically.

From May through July, a lawyer representing the Performing Members worked with the IEPA to obtain electronic manifest and annual report information relating to Clayton/RRG. On July 22, 2003, an information technology specialist at one of the law firms representing the Performing Members received an electronic version of the IEPA database relating to Clayton/RRG. That specialist worked with IEPA personnel to understand the electronic data. Once the electronic data was entered into an in-house database, the specialist was able to determine that the data was comprehensive and contained over 21,000 manifest entries from 1979 to 1998, but that there were errors with approximately 2,000 manifest entries. In addition, the data contained 122,000 entries relating to the Bureau of Land (the "BOL") inventory. The BOL inventory details owner and operator information (i.e., company name, address, phone, contact name and ID numbers) of companies who sent waste to the site.

1.2 VERIFICATION OF DATA

To assess the accuracy of the data, the information specialist initially selected three companies for which the IEPA electronic data was compared with hard copies of the manifests and annual reports. The three (3) companies were selected randomly and the information was reviewed. Because none of the information for these three companies for 1996 matched up with the information contained in the IEPA database, the decision was made to do additional research/quality assessment for each year.

However, before the additional research could be efficiently conducted, it was necessary to go through the 341 boxes of Clayton/RRG documents and collect all of the manifests and annual reports and organize them by year in separate boxes. Hard copies of the annual reports for 1981, 1989, 1994, 1997 and 1998 were determined to be missing from the material collected from the Clayton/RRG Site. The Performing Members then selected approximately three companies for each year during the 1979-1998 time period and reviewed the three sets of data, including the IEPA electronic data and the hard copies of the manifests and annual reports where available.

For the most part, the IEPA electronic data appeared to be correct from 1980 through 1993. The IEPA electronic data from 1994 through 1998 was inaccurate. Because the data in IEPA's electronic database was inaccurate from 1994 through 1998, information was inputted from the USEPA volumetric listing from 1995 through 1998 into the in-house IEPA derived database. On October 29, 2003, the Performing Members sent a FOIA request to IEPA requesting copies of annual reports for 1981, 1989, 1994, 1997 and 1998. IEPA indicated there was no annual report for 1981 on file; they sent microfilm for the remaining requested documents. Following receipt, the microfilm was sent out to a vendor for printing. After the vendor returned copies of the microfilm, the information from the 1994 annual report was then added into the database we had already compiled, making the database as complete "as reasonably possible" for all years from 1979 through 1998.

1.3 FURTHER EXPLANATION OF DATA – SECTIONS 5 AND 6

In sum, the data contained in Sections 5 and 6 were derived from IEPA's manifest/non-hazardous annual report database system for the years 1979-1993. Data for 1994 was derived from IEPA microfilm documentation. Data for 1995-1998 originated from the USEPA volumetric report.²

With respect to Section 5 specifically, the total volume in gallons is identified for each generator from the IEPA and USEPA data sources. Addresses are based on information provided in IEPA data and supplemented with public address information. The addresses of the top 50 generators (by volume) have been reviewed and updated with publicly available information. The column that lists the "Generators ID" contains an identification number assigned to each generator of the waste by the BOL – that number is not the same as the generator ID number that each facility which generates hazardous waste must obtain under RCRA.³

Sections 5 and 6 are derived from the same database. Section 6 breaks down the volumes sent by each generator on a year by year basis, except for the column in which the years 1995-1998 (the data compiled by USEPA) are aggregated. There is a separate volumetric listing for each IEPA – BOL identification number. In reviewing the Section 6 data, it became clear that some entities listed appeared to be related to or the same as other entities listed under separate IEPA – BOL identification numbers. In Section 5, an attempt was made to combine the volumes of the entities who, by virtue of the similarity in names, appeared to be the same or closely related companies.

1.4 LIMITATIONS AND FUTURE USE OF THIS REPORT

This report is the result of an extensive undertaking and satisfies the obligations of the Group under the AOC. It should be acknowledged and understood, however, that some inaccuracies may, and likely do, exist. For example, as indicated above, USEPA's own volume list was the source of the 1995-1998 waste volumes. One of the Performing Members has established that the volume attributed to it by USEPA was significantly inaccurate due to a transcription error. While that specific inaccuracy has been corrected in this report, the possibility remains that volumes attributed in this report to a given generator, including the Performing Members themselves, may contain inaccuracies. Therefore, the volumes contained in Sections 5 and 6 should not be considered conclusive, nor should they be construed as an admission by any individual Performing Member or Group Member as to the accuracy of their own volumes. All Group Members, including the Performing Members, reserve the right to contest/revise the volumes attributed to them in this report should errors be found or if questions as to accuracy arise.

To the extent USEPA intends to use this report as part of a process to effectuate a response action concerning soils at the Clayton/RRG Site, we hope USEPA finds that this report provides meaningful assistance to USEPA's own efforts. However, USEPA should not utilize this report, and the report is not intended, as a substitute for USEPA's own investigation. If a fair and just response action is to ensue, EPA should conduct additional inquiry, particularly with respect to the pre-1980 time period. As indicated above, there is reason to believe that most of the soil contamination found at the Clayton/RRG Site predates 1980. Because the post-1980

³ Some values (fields) are blank (empty) in the report for the following reasons:

- Generator ids are blank or zero – ids were not provided or available
- Generator names are unknown – name is indicated as Unknown #_____

Generator ID numbers between 1 and 273 are not actual ID numbers received from the IEPA. They have been created for purposes of this report. These numbers correspond to generator names for which no IEPA number was specified in the originating data. In the IEPA data, for a total of 25 records, both generator IDs and names were blank but waste values are present. These entries have been consolidated into one record for purposes of this report. The following data from the IEPA database was excluded from this report for reasons as specified below:

- 1,139 entries with a waste amount of zero were excluded from this report
- 1 entry that did not indicate the waste amount unit of measure (e.g., gallons or cu. yards) were excluded from this report
- 2 entries that did not indicate date periods were excluded from this report recordkeeping requirements did not exist pre-1980 and because the Performing Members do not possess USEPA's vast information gathering authorities under Section 104(e) of CERCLA, additional investigation by USEPA of the pre-1980 time period would seem particularly warranted.

Notes for Section 2

4. At one time the Clayton/RRG site was owned by Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 33). According to information contained in the Canadian National ("CN") website, GM&O Railroad merged with the Illinois Central (IC) Railroad in August of 1972 to form the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad. Thereafter, the IC is believed to have merged with CN. This transaction is believed to have been completed in 1999. Additional corporate history of GM&O to the Illinois Central, to the Canadian National Railroad viewable at website http://www.cn.ca/companyinfo/history/en_aboutourstory.shtml.

5. See May 25, 2004 Bud Haney depo., p. 86. See also Sigma response to 104(e) information request prepared by Sigma during the course of the liquids removal, which contains information concerning its activities on the Clayton/RRG property.
6. Clayton allowed Trade Waste Incineration (TWI) to build a building and install an incinerator on the property in the late 1970s, and to operate its business at that location. The TWI incinerator was put in to burn magnesium waste. There was not enough magnesium waste, so they started burning other material. TWI was there until 1983 at least. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 113-17).
7. There was some old, rusting equipment at the site and Ronald Entrup was told it was for a crude oil topping plant. They took crude oil from the Illinois wells, topped it (distilled it), made white gas, kerosene, and black oil, bottoms, still bottoms, residual oil. The crude oil topping operation was run as Reidy and Sons, an oil broker, a corporation existing concurrently with Clayton Chemical. The crude oil topping plant was operating around 1958. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 21-23, 507).
8. These individuals / entities may have been operators of the Clayton / RRG site by virtue of their involvement in facility operations: Judy Reidy (n/k/a Ms. Judy Bick), Edward Reidy, Jr., Richard Lee, Emerald Environmental, Village of Sauget, Buddy R. Haney, David Weities, and Ron Entrup. Information on Gregory Snider was taken from his affidavit with the caption Illinois v. Clayton Chemical Company, In the Circuit Court of Madison County, Illinois, No. 93-CH-155.
9. Per Judy Reidy's (Bick's) 104(e) response, Emerald bought the shares of Clayton around 12/30/93
10. According to the 104(e) response of Specialty Waste Services, Inc., Tom Lightfoot ran the day to day operations of RRG.

Notes for Section 4

11. Fill from Monsanto was spread throughout the Clayton/RRG property (May 25, 2004 Bud Haney depo., pp. 116-17). Mr. Haney also testified that prior to his employment at Clayton, Clayton did "a fair" amount of business with Monsanto (May 25, 2004 Bud Haney depo., pp. 113-14). Further, Mr. Haney testified he personally worked on a process involving a Monsanto product – 4NDPA (May 25, 2004 Bud Haney depo., pp. 114-15).
12. See May 25, 2004 Bud Haney depo., p. 86. See also Sigma response to 104(e) information request prepared by Sigma during the course of the liquids removal, which contains information concerning its activities on the Clayton/RRG property.
13. Clayton did a custom chemical reaction for Amoco Chemicals. Amoco sent in various raw materials, Clayton processed the materials, put it in rail cars, and shipped it to a third party for another chemical reaction to finish the product. The equipment consisted of a small distillation unit. That was an existing vessel when Mr. Entrup began working at Clayton. The Amoco project went on for probably two or three years. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 197-98).
14. Ralston Purina sent some solvents to Clayton in the early to mid '70s. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 299-300).
15. Clayton did business fairly regularly with Cerro Copper. Clayton reclaimed solvents for Cerro. Entrup believes the solvent was 1,1,1-trichloroethane. Clayton took care of Cerro's solvents through most of the '70s. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 232-34).
16. Brown Shoe Company sent shoe finishes to Clayton. These were generally lacquers, and they would also send solvents. Clayton did business with Brown for a few years through the middle of Entrup's employment. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 259-61).
17. When Mr. Entrup first got to Clayton, Precoat Metals was a customer, as was St. Louis Paint, Morris Paint, Don V. Davis and Banner Paint. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 320).
18. Clayton did business with Don V. Davis in St. Louis. Clayton would reclaim their wash-out solvents. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 247).
19. Clayton recycled solvents for Banner Paint Company, in Lemay, St. Louis County, Missouri. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 256).
20. Clayton possibly did business with Chemsico. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 275).
21. Clayton dealt with GM indirectly. Mr. Entrup knows this because the hauler would indicate where the waste was coming from. The waste from GM was in drums. Clayton would go through it and pick out all of the solvents. GM liquids came in drums from the Chevy plant on Natural Bridge. The material in drums consisted of solvents, transmission fluid, engine oils, gasoline. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 273). Drums from GM came in a roll off box that was owned by the trash hauler. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 315). The GM facility was the Chevy plant in North City. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 369-70).

22. Lanson Chemical did not send a lot of waste. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 287-88).

23. Clayton did business with Lustour Corp. Mr. Entrup believes they sent ink solvents. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 288).

24. Entrup believes Clayton did business with Permaneer Corp. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 298).

25. Saint Clair Die Casting sent drums to Clayton. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 301).

26. Kanartex Corporation is familiar to Ronald Entrup with regard to Clayton. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 307).

27. Clayton took paints and solvents from Wallace Pencil Company. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 308-09).

28. U.S. Polymers sent waste to Clayton. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 335).

29. PolyOne rings a bell as a customer of Clayton Chemical. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 344-35).

30. Petrochem sent material to Clayton. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 350-51).

31. Nesco Container possibly sent drums and/or five-gallon cans. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 355).

32. Century Electric was a customer for less than a year. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 361-62).

33. MR Plastics and Coatings sent in waste for recycling from 1974 or 1975 on. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 297).

34. Clayton received waste solvent from Hussman from their painting operations, at least through the middle years of Mr. Entrup's employment. That may have continued until he left and probably started around 1974 or 1975. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 284-85).

35. Carbofine sent material to Clayton for a couple of years, probably in the middle '70s. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 340-41).

36. Clayton recycled waste for Rockford Chemical Coatings. The material came in drums in the late '70s. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 300-01).

37. Clayton did not do business directly with Chrysler, but would have contracted with some waste disposer. (May 7, 2003, Entrup deposition, p. 271). Chrysler had a rolloff tank (the rolloff tank belonged to the trash hauler (p. 315)) outside their paint shop. "They" would pump the solvents into the tank and bring the tank to Clayton. Chrysler put transmission fluid and other stuff in there. That was in the '75 to '80 time period. (pp. 277-78). The Chrysler plant was in Fenton. (p. 370).

38. Steelcote Manufacturing sent paint-related solvents beginning in the mid '70s. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 335-38).

39. Spatz Paint was a customer beginning in the mid-1970s. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 303-04).

40. Clayton did business with Sterling Lacquer from 1975 on. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 305).

41. Clayton accepted solvents from Kempen Paint. Mr. Entrup estimates the time period to have been the middle to late '70s. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 286).

42. Waterlac Industries sent waste to Clayton from the mid '70s on. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 309-10).

43. Mark Twain Marine Industries sent solvents to Clayton in the late 1970s until Mr. Entrup left. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 290-91).

44. Chromalloy Precoat Metals sent solvents to Clayton from their printing operation. That was toward the end of Mr. Entrup's employment. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 278-79).

45. Clayton may have taken something from Schulte Paint & Lacquer in the early 80's. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 353).

46. Sinnett Lacquer was a long-time toll customer, from the early '70s on, a fair-sized customer with material coming in bulk. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p. 302).

47. Ronald Entrup thinks Walter Wurdack, Inc., sent solvents to Clayton in the late '70s, early '80s. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., p.309).

48. P.D. George sent waste to Clayton. (May 7, 2003, Entrup depo., pp. 329-30).

Notes for Section 5 & 6

49. Koch Industries was listed with a total volume of 118,044 gallons shipped in February 1992 based on its response to USEPA's 104(e) request.

50. The IEPA database detailed an entry for 2,214 cubic yards of waste which when converted is 447,199 gallons. Other waste values in previous and subsequent years for this generator are listed as gallons and range from 55 gallons to 8,429 gallons. Verification of the data via the 1993 annual report indicates the entry in question is 2214 gallons of waste, not 2214 cubic yards. Based on the annual report, it appears the waste unit was incorrectly entered into the IEPA data. As such, the correct unit was used in this report.

51. Source: Schiber Trucking 2/10/92 Invoice # 92-09 attached to 104(e) response of Koch Industries.

Notes for Section 5 & 6

49. Koch Industries was listed with a total volume of 118,044 gallons shipped in February 1992 based on its response to USEPA's 104(e) request.

50. The IEPA database detailed an entry for 2,214 cubic yards of waste which when converted is 447,199 gallons. Other waste values in previous and subsequent years for this generator are listed as gallons and range from 55 gallons to 8,429 gallons. Verification of the data via the 1993 annual report indicates the entry in question is 2214 gallons of waste, not 2214 cubic yards. Based on the annual report, it appears the waste unit was incorrectly entered into the IEPA data. As such, the correct unit was used in this report.

51. Source: Schiber Trucking 2/10/92 Invoice # 92-09 attached to 104(e) response of Koch Industries.
